

LOVE WILL KEEP US Alive

In Love Will Keep Us Alive, change leader and international speaker Lianne Bridges, takes us through personal challenges involving the great love and loss in her life. Her bliss after marrying Bob and starting a family is cut short when he develops terminal cancer. Suffering immense grief, Lianne embarks on a journey of self-healing and rediscovery.

Her explorations led her to realize that her husband's death was a catalyst to help others connect with their deeper calling. She founded Designing Transformation in 2009 to provide guidance and support to help individuals realize their full potential by aligning with their true purpose with a clear vision and a step-by-step approach to their self-empowerment.

Love Will Keep Us Alive

Enmeshed by love at first sight, Lianne and Bob went through some tough ups and downs before they both realized they were destined to be together. Bob immediately pulled Lianne into a world of romance, unconditional love and total acceptance, but not without immense guilt about his existing family. Their Bali wedding is the stuff of fairy tales, but their joy was short-lived, with Bob receiving a dire cancer diagnosis a few years later. After doing everything possible to help Bob survive, Lianne was left to cope after his death with two young boys and the overwhelming grief of losing the love of her life.

Unconditional and eternal love are the prevailing themes of Love will Keep Us Alive. Lianne's first book shows the strength derived from being truly open to powers beyond our usual perceptions and understanding. She hopes her willingness to share her journey with genuine vulnerability will "inspire others to seek and believe in their heartfelt purpose and live a life of love, passion, fulfillment and magic."
